"Yesterday King George summoned me to the palace and declared exceptional circumstances compelled him to replace the cabinet and to form a new ministry from the ranks of the opposition. He begged me to second his efforts. I refused to tender my resignation, not because of my love of power, but in order that such a step might not be misinterpreted.

"I urged the king to use the privilege of the crown, declaring that I was ready to sign the royal decree, provided the latter cast no blame upon us. I added that there was no reason to fear that such a measure would be considered by Europe as a censure upon the government's policy. BUDGET STATEMENT BEGAN THE TROUBLE Grows Angry Over Sir William's cordingly.

exchequer, Sir Michael Hicks Beach, read the budget statement in the house of commons today. Te balance in the account of 1896-97 shows the exchequer revenue to be £103,950,000, and the expenditures £101,477,000. leaving a surplus of £2,473,000.

The chancellor of the exchequer, who was heartily cheered, added that the national debt had been reduced £7,584,000 during the year and that the total value of British trade during the last fiscal year was £738,-000,000, an increase of 5 per cent.

Regarding affairs in south Africa the "We had to consider very carefully our position as to the paramount power in south Africa and decided to make a material increase in the imperial garrison in that colony. These measures are not taken in an aggressive spirit. We intend to fulfill our obligations and expect others to do the same. For this purpose we want £200,-

Sir William Vernon Harcourt, the liberal eader, referring to the £200,000 set apart in the budget estimates for strengthening British garrison in south Africa, said this sum was for a war policy in south Africa, which the opposition was determined to

Sir William accused Mr. Chambertain of trying to arouse a war feeling and of using in all his recent statements "exasperating language, calculated to excite feeling of racial hatred in south Africa, which, however, thank God, has failed.

Harcourt Hot After Chamberlain. Sir William Harcourt's remarks were met with cries of "Oh!" Continuing, he said the colonies intending to produce racial war was defeated by the good sense and feeling of the people of Cape Colony, and he pointed to the adoption of the recent con cillatory motion in the parliament of Cape Colony as being a condemnation of this war policy, adding that he was happy to say the peaceful policy was supported by the government of Cape Colony.

The secretary of state for the colonies, Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, here entered the house and amid cheers Sir William Harcourt said: "In the presence of Mr Chamberlain I repeat that it was a defeat of an utterly unjustifiable attempt to excite ill feeling.

"When we are asked to refuse a reduc tion of the taxes of Great Britain in order to contribute money to promote warlike aggressive operations in south Africa we oppose a most determined resistance. The proposal to apply money to unjustifiable purposes against the will of the people the empire ever submitted to the house of

Mr. Chamberlain said he had not expect ed to have to reply to such "pernicious an dangerous language." He classed Sir William Harcourt's utterances as being "unpatriotic in the highest degree, embarrass ing to the government and injurious to the Continuing Mr. Chamberlain asserted that Sir William Harcourt's statements to the effect that the government's policy had been rejected by the Cape government and eople were absolutely inaccurate. The policy of the government, he explained, had not changed from the first. Only cirumstances had changed to some extent. The government's policy, Mr. Chamberlain added, is to maintain its obligations, not to engage in any aggressive operations, nor to attack the independence of friendly state, but "to maintain our own rights and the rights of the nation."

Chamberlain Comes Back Warmly. "I had hoped," continued Mr. Chamber

ain, "that our policy would continue to be non-partisan, but that hope has disappeared in the face of Sir William Harcourt's speech and I now challenge him to raise the issue. (Cheers and counter cheers.) Are the opposition prepared to take issue with us when we say that while we intend to observe our own obligations we intend that obligations toward us shall also be maintained? The question between us and the Transvaal is not interference in the international affairs of the Trans vaal nor an attack on the London convention upon our part, but breaches of conrention upon the part of the Transvaal and we are calling upon them in friendly terms to give us satisfaction." Sir William Harcourt here interrupted

Mr. Chamberlain by remarking: "You are asking for £200,000. "What nonsense!"

Chamberlain hotly. Prolonged cheering greeted the sharp answer of the secretary of state for the olonies, who continued:

"We ask for £200,000 when everybody knows the Transvaal is asking for a milion and for hundreds and hundreds of thousands. The Transvaal has been arming to an extent absolutely unjustifiable by any ordinary policy of defense. We have not complained, but the result has been that the present armaments of the Transvaal are altogether disproportionate to the defensive resources of Cape Colony. and the Transvaal armaments, after ex pending considerably over a million upor them, are still going on. What Washington Thinks. Washington, April 29.-The announcemen from Madrid that the queen regent has signed a decree applying the reform laws to Cuba is considered by officials here as a realization of the plans under negotiation for many months to give Cuba an autononous form of government, or home rule. The home-rule plan about to be applied was made public in detail by Minister Dupuy de Lome on February 6th last. A council of administration is created for

The council of administration is given the most injurious things with reference to subject to certain supervisory authority by the home government. One of the important features of the plan is that of allowing Cuba to revise her tariff schedules The reform law was passed March 15, 1895, but never applied to Cuba owing to the uprising.

On last New Year's day it was promulgated by the queen regent and gazetted in Havana as a concession of the new year. Its actual application was still withheld however, until General Weyler could an nounce that the island was pacified. On the king's fete day the plan amplified. The decree signed by the queen today appears to be the last step toward ac-

Washington, April 29 .- The senate finance littee was in session for an hour today, four republicans and four democration being present. No conclusion of any kind

The discussion was confined entirely the proposition of the republicans to perbill to be reported direct to the senate and the alternative disposition to consider it was very briefly in committee The democrats declined the first suggestion but said with reference to the second that they could make no reply until they should have an opportunity to see the bill. One fact developed during the conference was that the republicans did not feel absolutely assured of the vote of Senator Jones of Nevada, in committee. On the other hand, the democrats express confidence that he would at least stand with them to the extent of seeing that they had time

RESCUING LIVING: RECLAIMING DEAD

Loss of Life in the Guthrie Disaster Now Estimated at Twenty.

EIGHTY-TWO STILL MISSING People Cling to Trees and House Tops All Night Long.

SYSTEMATIC RELIEF IS BEING RENDERED

Five Hundred Homes Were Swept Away and a Thousand People Left Destitute.

Guthrie, Oka., April 29.-In the floodday has been one of the heroic efforts to ward the rescue of those unfortunates whose lives were still endangered and for the relief of the hundreds of destitute and hungry.

Tonight it seems a certainty that the loss of life in yesterday's deluge will not exceed twenty.

All day missing people, supposed yesterday to have been drowned, have been found clinging to bushes or driftwood down the stream of the west bluffs and gathering in farmhouses for miles.

Daylight found dozens of persons still clinging to trees, overturned houses or timbers in perilous positions which they had sustained all during the night. For miles along the scene of devastation, 1,500 people, homeless, half ill from exposure and hunger passed a miserable night and morning found most of them too weak to give much assistance either to themselves or others. The scene in the flood-swept district this morning was one of desolation. The river fell rapidly during the night and when the sun rose the extent of the damage done to property could be seen. The river is still bank full, but the water had receded from nost of the inundated districts.

There was a confused mass of debris and overturned and demolished houses scattered over the valley where last night was sea of water. The banks were littered with the carcasses of farm animals. Whole blocks, where yesterday stood a home in nearly every lot, were stripped and huge trees torn up by their roots were scattered

With the first ray of daylight the worl of rescuing and relief was taken up with a will, and kept up with tireless energy During last night men had been put to work in lumber yards constructing boats, and dawn today witnessed a dozen crafts darting out from all directions to the rescue of the unfortunates. The work of the raftsmen proved most effective, and one by one the people were transported from their perilous positions to places of safety on land. Every house, drift pile and tree was closely examined in search of the

The family of Wesley McGill, reported yesterday as drowned, was found safe. The only bodies found during the were those of Mrs. Fannie Ruffin and five children, all lodged in a pile of driftwood. These with George Owen, the butcher, drowned while rescuing others, Frank Myers, Mrs. Jane Watt, Mrs. Francis Moore, Mrs. Drummond, Mrs. Dennis and child and Mrs. Watson are the only identi-During the day systematic relief was per fected and carried on.

Ferries plied across the river, carrying provisions and clothing everywhere and returning with the injured. Such were carefully cared for in private homes in Guthrie. By nightfall ample arrange had been made for the immediate care of the homeless, and there was an assurance of no further suffering at least for the Five hundred homes were swept away, 150 houses were wrecked and twenty stores devastated, leaving 1,000 people homeless and half as many destitute. The work of supplying shelter and food for all these was by no means a small undertaking, but the Guthrleites were equal to the task, and tonight thousands of dollars have been subcribed to aid the afflicted.

The damage along the Cimarron river east is very extensive and hundreds of farms have been devastated along Deep Fork, in Lincoln county. Hundreds of men worked all day rebuilding houses along the stream. The damage to property will in the neighborhood of $100,000, while that sustained in crops may equal or per haps double that amount.

The receding flood has left an immense pile of wreckage at the failroad bridge six miles below the city.

Search for the dead was begun at that point this evening, and when darkness put a stop to the work the bodies of a white man and a colored baby had been recovered. It is claimed that several other bodies have been sighted in the debris here. An attempt was made to poll the residents of West Guthrie this after

THIRTY-FIVE PRET DEEP. Steps Are Being Taken To Close It at Once and Unless Something Is Done No Crop Will Be Made.

Helena, Ark., April 29.-A new danger nenaces the bottoms below Helena, and t is serious. On Tuesday Messrs. Chaling and Henry wired Mayor Purvis to get up estimates at once of the cost of ing breaks in the levee in this district in order that the levee commission of the Mississippi river commission, which meets in St. Louis, might be promptly advise He went to the Williamson crevasse and nade soundings, discovering that water was running through the break thirty feet deep, and had cut a channel through the river bank outside the levee to Long lake inside. This makes a great channel thirty feet by 600 or 700 feet long. Major Purvis at nce reported to Messrs. Pillow, Bram and Quarles, directors of the Cotton Belt levee district, and the information imressed them as nothing else connected with this flood has. It means that no crop can be made in the bottom unless thi gap is closed very soon, and the closing of it means the expenditure of a large sum of money at a time when they are confronted with an empty treasury.

A meeting of the directors of the Cotton Belt levee district was held today, at which prominent planters were present. Major Purvis gave it as his opinion that on today and a telegram was sent to General Manager Dodridge, of the Iron Mountain railroad, stating the conditions and asking him to appear before the com-mission and ask for an appropriation of 135,000 out of available funds at their disposal for the purpose of closing the Williamson, Hubbard and Westover crevasses. This last development of the flood situa-tion brought more trouble to the local re-lief committee, as the planters in the bottoms who have been feeding their help quit and so notified the committee.

I understand that they recognize their position as the repre sentatives of the paramount power in south Africa and are determined, in the often used words, to maintain the integrity of all our rights, under the convention.' The conclusion of Mr. Chamberlain's re marks was the signal for a tremendous out burst of cheering upon the part of the conservatives. Later, replying to Mr. Thomas Warner iberal, Mr. Chamberlain said that the dispatch of a regiment of British infantry and a brigade of British artillery to Cape Colony was intended as a permanent increase of the Cape garrison. Mr. Balfour, first lord of the treasury and the government leader in the house also deprecated Sir William Harcourt's language, and protested that the policy of the government was not provocative. William Vernon Harcourt, replying to Mr. Balfour, expressed his satisfaction at the statement just made by the first lord of the treasury, but said no one could doubt the existence at the cape of a very widespread impression that war is immient, nor, he added, can anyone wonder that the Boers are arming, after the Jameson attempt. In conclusion, he expressed the hope that Great Britain did not and would not entertain such a suicidal and disgraceful policy as the incitement of a race war in south Africa.

Attack Caused a Sensation. The budget of Sir Michael Hicks Beach will probably prove popular. Although there is no reduction in taxation, numerous postal telegraph reforms have been prom sed, reforms long and urgently needed. which will be a real boon to the community. All such immediate interests, however, are completely overshadowed by the excited ebate on the south African situation. Sir William Harcourt's sudden and vehemen attack caused a tumult on the tory side of the house and the government front bench fell at once into animated colluguy Mr. Balfour sent Mr. T. W. Sir William Harcourt was saving, as Mr. Chamberlain entered the chamber: "I have said this was a war plot; I repeat it in his presence. This was a war plot, a war plot which missed fire."

Mr. Chamberlain snatched up a piece of paper, and Mr. Balfour and Mr. Goschen. first lord of the admiralty, rapidly told him what had passed, while he made notes of Mr. Harcourt's phrases. The excitement of the house was maintained at white heat with cheers and counter-cheers throughout both speeches.

Mr. Balfour did his best to calm ters, and promised to give a day for a discussion of the proposed grant at the earliest possible debate. The house then emptied into the lobby to discuss the scene.

United States Senator Bacon arrived from Washington this morning and will remain in the city a few days on important business. He says the senate is at a standstill and he availed himself of the opportunity to come home and attend to some private matters. In reference to the Dingley bill he said that is yet to be reported by the sub-committee to the general committee.

"It is not yet known when the seneral committee will report the bill to the senate, but probably very little time will be lost in doing so," said Senator Bacon.

"I am quite certain," continued the senator. "that the bill has been radically modified by the senate sub-committee."

"Will there be any difficulty in passing the bill?" was asked.

"Well, that depends entirely upon whether or not the republicans harmonize their differences," replied Senator Bacon. "The republicans, so far, have failed to agree on a great many minor details of the bill and this may cause trouble, but if they harmonize their views, the bill will soon be a law. The republicans have a clear majority in the senate, and besides, the democrats have no disposition to delay proceedings more than to debate the question, and thereby clearly define their opposition to the theory of protection."

Mere faith will not digest your food for you, will not give you an appetite, will not increase your flesh and strengthen your nerves and heart, but Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will do these things, because they are composed of the elements of digestion, they contain the fulces, acids and peptones necessary to the digestion and assimilation of all wholesome food.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest food if placed in a jar or bottle in water heated to 36 degrees, and they will do it much more effectively when taken into the stomach after meals, whether you have faith that they will or not.

MOGE CANDLER CHARGED MURDER

Told the Jury to Pay No Attention to the Assault Story, as It Did Not Excuse the Crime---Several Very Dramatic Incidents.

H. S. Perry's fate has not yet been de-

For nearly six hours yesterday the jury of twelve men named to pass on his guilt or innocence battled among themselves as to what that fate should be, but at 10:30 o'clock last night they were still hopeessly divided on the tragic question.

The argument was finished yesterday afternoon a few minutes before 4 o'clock, and after the judge's charge was delivered the case went to the jury.

A mistrial may be declared. The jury was adjourned last night until this morning, when they will go again into the courthouse at Decatur and try to settle upon a verdict. The day yesterday was spent in argu ment. At 8 o'clock Mr. W. W. Braswell began the first speech for the defense. His speech was lengthy and covered the ground fully. The second speaker of the day was Mr John R. Cooper, of Macon. This able young lawyer spoke for an hour and fifty minutes and rehearsed every detail of the crime. He argued earnestly for the prosecution, and made a speech that was considered very damaging to Perry. Colonel Richard B. Russell, the leading counsel for the defense, followed Mr. Cooper. He brought out every favorable feature of the evidence that could possitend to benefit Perry, and attacked the prosecution in vigorous style. Mr. Russell spoke up to the dinner hour and court was adjourned at the close of his speech until 2 o'clock.

When court reconvened Solicitor General Kimsey began the closing argument for the state. The speaker was fired up with the zeal of his work, and for two hours he spoke in an able and convincing manner that clearly had a deep effect on the jury.

At 4 o'clock Judge Candler began his charge to the jury. It was clear, forcible and logical. In not one instance did the able jurist depart from the letter of the law, and his charge was one of rare ability and strength. He charged the jury to find the prisoner guilty of murder or to acquit him. No other grade of homicide was charged. Nothing but murder in the first degree was allowable under the evidence that had been ivered. The charge was very unfavorable to Perry, though even the witnesses for the defense were compelled to admit that it was fair and impartial. The judge charged that the jury should entirely disregard Perry's statement about the alleged ult of Mrs. Perry by Lanier. He urged that if the assault had really occurred it would not influence the verdict in the least, as it was not under the law an excuse for such a crime. If the assault had occurred it gave the prisoner no right to willfully shoot down another man, and the shooting of a man for such an alleged outrage was murder according to the judge's charge. The jury was particularly instructed on this point. If they found that Perry shot Lanier as alleged

Some of them probably want to bring in a light verdict and the judge's charge will not allow of such a procedure. The jury retired to its room after being charged and then commenced the long and edious wait in the courtroom. All Evidence Pinished Yesterday and Candidates for Governor, It is Said, Are Last Night.

MANY WITNESSES HEARD YESTERDAY

Defense Makes Good Showing---Tries To Impeach Two Witnesses of the City.

The trial of Chief Sanitary Inspector Thomas E. Veal on the charges of incompetency and neglect of duty, is drawing to close. All the evidence is now in and nothing is left but for the attorneys to make their arguments, and the board to ender its decision.

Assistant City Attorney Westmoreland will open for the city this afternoon. Judge Van Epps will follow for the defense, to be followed by Judge Anderson at the night session. The members of the board will have to review part of the evidence and a flecision ought to be reached by to-

It is almost certain that Veal will be ac quitted. It seems to be the consensus of plnion that the city has not made out a strong case and he has clearly refuted by his witnesses almost every point that has been urged against him. He is confident of winning, in which case he will probably give a barbecue to the board at the dumping grounds.

Two sessions were held yesterday, one n the afternoon and the other last night. In all about thirty witnesses were examined, all of whom testified in Veal's favor. Attempts were made to impeach some of the most damaging witnesses of the state, several swearing they would not believe

Colonel Thomas was questioned about Veal's national reputation as a health officer, but Colonel Westmoreland objected, and his objection was sustained on the ground that it would open another line of testimony to prove, if such could be done, Veal was not a competent man. Judge Van Epps grew rather warm in the collar at this juncture and spoke at length on the way his client had been mis-treated, and referred to those who had figured those shortages against Veal at the dumping grounds as "irresponsible scrib-

"He stated today that from present indications he considered his prospects better than those of any of the present prospective candidates, to-wit: duBignon, Berner and Jenkins.

"Terrell's inquiries in Macon today concerning the governorship make it positive that he will be a candidate if he sees a chance of winning. If the gubernatorial outllook is not favorable as the time for active campaigning draws near, he will be a candidate for re-election as attorney

What of Harry Hill? Athens, Ga., April 29.-(Special.)-What wiff be Harry Hill's status with the Northeastern railroad since the appointment of Martin H. Dooly as a receiver? Dooly was asked what he intended to do concerning Hill and his office of supervisor, to which question he replied that he has nothing to do with Hill's connection with the road; that Hill had told him he was paid by Lessee Richards and that if he continue in his office of supervisor he would have to look to Richards and not to him as receiver for any pay.

Receiver Dooly said he abolished the office of supervisor as soon as he took charge of the road and that he has never seen any use for it, so it is clear that as long as Mr. Dooly is receiver of the North eastern the office of supervisor to which Harry Hill was appointed by Lessee Richards will not call for any money upon the pay roll of the company.

ATLANTA, GA., April 80, 1897.

The Coming of Joe Blackburn. The election of a republican senator by the legislature of Kentucky brings to its final culmination the effort of the Watterson-Carlisle crowd to wreck the democratic party of that grand old state. The wreckers can go no further. They have come to the end of their row. They have won their last victory. The reaction, which has already set in

-which, indeed, began to set in after the November election-will bring the democratic party of Kentucky together in a more wholesome and coherent shape than ever hefore. We know the people of that great commonwealth: we are familiar with their pride and their patriotism; and we have no hesitation in saying that recent events in Kentucky-the defection of the Watterson-Carlisle crowd, the selling out of the small fry, the treachery of place-hunters and timeservers, the election of Bradley, the election of a republican to succeed gallant Joe Blackburn-will have the effect of strengthening the democratic party in

It is true the patience of honest and patriotic men has been sorely tried by the freachery of individuals in whose political integrity they trusted, and to whose ambition they had catered. They have seen a leader whom they deemed trustworthy desert his party and betray the interests of those who had honored him. They have seen a newspaper built up and made great on their patronage turn its columns against them at a critical moment. And yet, even as a severe illness sometimes clears poison out of the system and leaves the body free to acquire greater strength and vigor than ever before, these experiences all conspire to make the democratic party of Kentucky more powerful hereafter than it has ever been heretofore.

The element that was purchaseable has been purchased; the factors that were doubtful have succumbed: the men who were weak have gone where their feebleness led them; and today the democratic party of Kentucky is stronger with the masses of the people than it has ever been-far more powerful than in the days when it carried clinging to its skirts the brood of vampires that have now fastened themselves on the purse of the money power.

The election of a republican senator. instead of marking the going of Joe Blackburn, will mark his coming. Henceforward he is the leader of his party in Kentucky. He has borne the brun of defeat, and he will lead it to victory. He has suffered temporary defeat because he and his followers are unpurchaseable; and for the same reason he will lead his party to victory.

He will unite and harmonize all the forces in Kentucky that stani for pure democratic principles. The very necessity of democratic victory will make that victory inevitable; and when the legislature next meets to elect a United States senator, its choice will be Joe

The Baptist Denomination.

From the American Baptist year book for 1897, just issued by the American Baptist Publication Society, quite a number of interesting facts concerning the growth of this religious denomination in of Baptist communicants in the Unit-ed States, according to the year book, there are now 3,824,038; of churines, 40,568, and of ministers, 27,257. Besides, there are 23.787 Sabbath schools, with 164,431 teachers and 1,590,190 scholars. One marked peculiarity of the Paptist church membership lies in the fact that nly 925,619 comm icants reside in the orthern states, while the remaining ,800,000 reside in the south.

Under the charge of the Baptist church in the United States there are seven heological seminaries, of which the two largest are at Chicago and Louisville, the former having 321 students and the latter 303 students. Besides theological seminaries there are thirty-seven colleges and universities under Baptist con-

Some of these institutions are handomely endowed. Brown university, which ranks as the oldest, has an endowment of $2,290,000: Colgate university, $2,404,000; the University of Rochester, $1,280,000. Evidently the Baptist church believes in a thoroughly educated membership as well as ministry.

Closely allied to the Baptist church are various other kindred denominations, making the total number of thos who believe in immersion, according to the year book, 5.134.378. In comparison with these figures it may be of interest to cite the strength of various other denominations. Methodism in the United States, putting its several branches together, aggregates 5,297,896 communicants; Presbyterianism, 1,440,-116, and Lutheranism, which is closely akin to Presbyterianism, 1,420,905. The figures in regard to other branches of the Christian faith are not accessible. but the ones above cited serve to show how most of them stand.

As To Minority Stockholders,

Referring to the comments of The Constitution on the recent collapse or explosion of the Georgia Loan, Savings and Banking Company, a contemporary reminds us that "recent decisions of the courts, especially of the New York court of appeals, guarantee minority stockholders full protection from the machinations of the majority, provided the minority stockholders assert themselves.

Well. The Constitution is not engaged in painting, but is dealing with facts that are naked and plain. The New York court of appeals has no jurisdiction in Georgia, and its decisions, good, bad or indifferent, do not affect the law or the courts in Georgia.

The minority stockholders can assert themselves under the law in Georgia; but to what end? When the corporation in which they are interested is thrown into the courts, their cause finds itself impaled on the points and quibbles that constitute the stock-in-trade of legal practice in Georgia, and the aggrieved parties find themselves in a worse condition than they were before. After such delay as suits the attorneys on one side or the other, or on both sides, the end of the matter is that the whole body and substance of the corporation is dissipated in lawyers' fees.

The main trouble, however, seems to he the fact that the law, or the practice of the courts, appears to have reached the point where defaulters, embezzlers and other violators of the laws of the state invariably find a way cleared for their escape from the penalties provided by the statutes. It seems to be impossible to secure any action through the ordinary methods to secure deterrent action by the courts. All the avenues of escape are open, and the action taken by the courts, instead of deterring other would-be criminals, is a standing invitation to all who are willing to do so to proceed to pluck those whose confidence they have obtained and whose money they have control of.

The result is that the public is not only losing respect for the law under which these manipulations are possible, but for the courts which provide convenient channels of escape. There is a general feeling among the masses that both the law and the courts have been wrenched away from their proper foundations to give protection to those who do not deserve it. And it is a dangerous feeling, leading to demoralization and lawlessness. There is another phase of this matter that may well be brought home to the minds of our conservative and justiceloving citizens. The reputation that our city has obtained abroad has been smirched and blackened by the rapid succession of swindlings, embezzlements and other transactions of a doubtful character that have followed each other in Atlanta during the past few months. The public prints of the country swarm with taunting allusions to these occurrences. Atlanta is referred to as "the headquarters of embezzlement," and as "a nest of financial swindlers." These statements are sure, in the end, to have a serious effect on the mind of the outsider. It is the misfortune of this state of things that it hurts the reputation of honest men in Atlanta and tends to cripple every enterprise centering here for which outside capital may be neces sary. In the minds of people at a distance the whole city is concerned in the rascally developments that have taken place in this city lately. The outside public is not given to individualizing in such matters. It can only generalize, and in this way the reputation of Atlanta is blackened. Now, this is a matter that goes farther than individual misfortune, bad as the latter is, for it is calculated to retard the building up of the city in a thousand ways which we need not catalogue, since they must be apparent to every citizen who is interested in Atlanta's growth and development.

Even now the impression prevails right here in Georgia that the courts of Atlanta protect swindlers and embezzlers and enable them to avoid the punshment the law intends to inflict on those who wrong individuals or the public. And the impression is irresistible. It is based on a series of actual occurrences and events.

Now the fact that such an impression is irresistible indicates a condition of affairs that ought not to be possible in any civilized community. The best-nay, the only-defense Atlanta has gainst such an appalling situation is the public sentiment of the community to bring such a pressure to bear on those charged with the administration of the law as will compel them to do their duty promptly and effectually; to the end that the rights of individuals may be protected, the law vindicated, would-be criminals deterred from such performances as those that have discredited the community, and the good name of the city vindicated.

Husband Not Next of Kin. Judge Willis, of St. Paul, has made a ruling that a woman's husband is not her next of kin. His honor has granted a motion for judgment on the pleadings yor of the defendant, in a suit again street railway company, brought by A. N. Watson, of Minneapolis, as administrator of the estate of Lena E. Watson, his late wife, to recover the statutory sum wire, to recover the statutory sum of $5,000 for wrongfully causing the death of Mrs. Watson. Mrs. Watson was a passenger on a street car one day last summer when it jumped the track and running down a short hill collided with a bluff. Mrs. Watson was injured and about six weeks later she died, as a result of these injuries, so the plaintiff alleges. The plaintiff brought suit against the street railway company t recover the statutory $5,000 in his own be half as next of kin to his wife. No other kin of the deceased was mentioned. el for the street railway company moved for judgment on the pleadings of the ground that the plaintiff, as husband o Mrs. Watson, was not her next of kin, according to the statute providing for the beginning of actions to recover for loss of life. The statute specifically states "widow and next of kin," but says nothing about "widowers." Judge Willis grante the motion. It is understood that the de ceased left a child surviving, no allusion o whom appears in the complaint and Whether the child, as the thereby barred from bringing a similar action on the statute is the next question that may have to be determined.

It is respectfully suggested to Mr. Mc-Kinley that if it be his intention to ap-point Dr. Hopkins as minister to Greece and no man doubts that such is the case t would be best for all parties concerned to appoint him quick. It would be a little embarrassing to the genial doctor to sail packed away in his steamer trunk, and to and upon his arrival that nothing was left of Greece or of the royal Grecian family to which or whom he could present his cre dentials with the dignity and honor which attaches to such an action. From present appearances there will not be enough of that unhappy country left a month from now for the doctor to rest his high silk hat

Greece's Motherly Queen. She has never got over her own great sor row—the death of her eldest daughter, the Grand Duchess Paul, whose departure from Athens to be married was more like a funeral than the preface to a bridal. All Athens turned out to wish her joy. But the faces of the bride and her mother were blistered with tears. This being thought a bad omen, the air was filled with lamen-tation. The princess was entreated by the women to turn back and wait for some nore propitious time to begin her journey. But the princess was married and was illed in less than two years by a fall from a carriage that was going at a furl ous pace. A nurse of the princess dreamed the night before the departure from Russia that they were at the museum and came to a sculpture representing a family group around a dying girl. The dreamer thought the personages were suddenly changed into the king, the queen, herself and the betrothed princess. Next morning she told her dream to the queen, who laughed, but believed her, as her blistered

Osman Pasha. Osman Pasha, who has been placed in command of the Turkish army, now trying to invade Greece, won great distinc-tion in the Russo-Turkish war by his de-fense of Plevna against the Russians. He has had great experience as a fighter, and was in the Crimean war, the Cretan campaign and the Servo-Turkish war. At the out-break of the war between Turkey and Rus-sia he was placed in command of the Fifth army corps, which did great fighting. Another Fool Scheme.

The Scientific American scoffs at the proposed gigantic relief map of the United States in the District of Columbia, which was provided for in a resolution which passed the senate and was defeated in the nouse. According to The Scientific American's estimates, a model on the scale proposed could not be built for less than $500,000,000. The writer goes on to suggest that by reducing the scale from three feet to the mile to three inches to the mile, the map could be brought down to a cost of $50,000. It would be less than 100 feet in diameter, instead of 1,200, and could be kept under cover, so as to avoid the destructive influence of the elements.

A former cashier of the Globe bank, in Chicago, tells why he resigned, and, in a few words, gives the keynote to the institution's downfall. He says: "The fault with the management from the first was that too much of the bank's money was loaned to concerns in which officers of the bank were largest interested."

MEN AND MATTERS.

Congressman W. C. Adamson came up from Carrollton last night and got off to Washington.

For the past few days he has been minging among the boys of his own burg and storing up a supply of Georgia grinds, vintage '97, which will be worked into the next speech.

Since his advent to Washington life the judge has pursued the even tenor of his path. He has made no attempt to impress his colleagues with his own greatness. He has preserved throughout a demeanor characteristic modesty and except for his naiden speech has remained silent,

By this speech, however, he was packing him up for a star play when the time comes. All of the new men from Georgia have asserted themselves in an mphatic way. The pugnacious spirit of Brantley has flashed several times: Griggs has gathered a strong coterie of admirers about him; Fleming has already shown Reed more parliamentary tricks than were dreamed of in his philosophy; Bill Howard, "the war horse of the eighth," has scented the battle from afar and is preparing to plunge in. In fact, Georgia material is at a premium.

Judge Adamson had stepped in to get a paper containing all speeches delivered at the dinner of the Reform Club Saturday

"It's a pity," he said, "that Judas Iscariot and Benedict Arnold couldn't have had more determination. With a little perseverance they could have been vindicated Judas could have trotted over the hills of Judea and Benedict could have pulled his crowd together, wined them and dined them a little, and both could have been

"What a beautiful spectacle it was," he continued, "what a hopeless dream what a sad commentary on past glory Cleveland's reform dinner will go down in history as the effort of a man to be his own vindicator."

Governor W. Y. Atkinson and the colonels came back yesterday.

There was a glorious reception given at the Augusta flower carnival, in which the governor and the colonels were the chief feature. It has been said that the chief executive was subjected to mild embarrassment be-cause of the military escort which accompanied him during the day. This, how ever, the colonels say is not the case. In the way of military matters Savannah and Augusta carry out every regulation to the and when the squad was designated to take charge of the governor the order was construed literally. It has been stated that they marched him just after breakfast to a barber shop, where the hirsutes of his excellency were abbreviated while the military escort stood attention about the tonsorial chair. Columbia, S. C., April 29.—(Special.)-About two menths ago William Brekroge went to Charleston to get married. In his trunk he had three jugs of liquor, canned fruit, ten boxes of cigars and other things. The constables opened the trunk and confiscated it. It was sent to the dispensary here as property of the state. Last week Breckroge was awarded $300 damages in the court for the seigure and the question has been raised since the verdict has been rendered in his favor if the trunk ought not to be returned. A search for it was instituted, but it could not be found. The room where such things are stored was empty.

It developed today that Clerk Seth Scruggs, of the dispensary, made a present of the trunk to his friend, Representative C. W. Garris. The cigars and other things are missing also. Governor Ellerbe is indignant about the transaction and is swearing vengeance. He is having the matter investigated.

The affair is creating a big sensation among dispensary officials and the transaction is opening up some of the rumors of last year about rottenness in the manage-

Hearing Which Was Set for Yesterday Afternoon Postponed at Suggestion of Officers and Counsel. What Developed Yesterday.

The sensations which were supposed to be lurking behind the litigation in the affairs of the Georgia Loan, Savings and Banking Company failed to materialize yesterday when the application for receiver for that institution was argued before Judge Lumpkin in chambers. The hearing brought out nothing that has not already been made public and the cutire matter comes up in a most informal manner before the court. The situation was discussed, but not in detail, and but little was said that in any way referred to the alleged mismanagement of the bank. Not a word of reference was made to the alleged defalcation of Cashier Harry Cassin, and the affairs of the bank were comment ed upon in a most desultory manner by the attorneys. The hearing lacked anything that would cause a sensation and those who were present for the purpose of securing the details of the manner in which the bank lost the money went away disap-

The application for receiver was not ar gued. When Judge Lumpkin took his seat, Colonel Glenn, representing Morgan Gress, director of the bank, who had filed the bill asking for a receiver, stated to the court that he thought it was for the bes interests of all concerned to have the hearing postponed. Colonel Glenn suggested that the argument be postponed until May 12th, so that no action would be taken by the court until after the stockholders meeting, which occurs May 10th.

Attorney Abbott, of the firm of Abbott & Cox sanounced that his firm, repre senting other stockholders, did not wish to enter into the argument at that time, preferring that the entire matter be postponed until May 12th, as suggested by Colo-

The first movement against the postpone sent and probably the only sensation of was caused by Mr. Burton Smith, who was the only lawyer present, who represented a creditor of the bank. He was counsel for the Washington Loan and Investment Company and he stated to the court that all the other attorneys represented the stockholders and he believed it was the best interests of the stock holders that the hearing be postponed for

Mr. Smith held in his hand a copy of the application filed by Mr. Morgan Gress, in which the appointment of a receiver was urged. Mr. Smith stated to the court that Mr. Gress was a director of the bank and his petition showed beyond the peradventure of a doubt that great friction and strife existed among the members of the beard of directors.

"This bill was filed only last Monday, three days ago, and I insist on the appointment of a receiver upon the grounds which are set forth by Mr. Morgan Gress."

Lumpkin Postpones Action. young cashier, there is no doubt that the amount alleged to be short would promptly be made good and the matter would be at an end.

In the event a true bill is returned, Cassin's bond would be assessed by the judge of the superior court, and should the bond not be given, he would go to jall to awai his trial before the criminal superior cour which convenes in a few weeks.

No develop nents came to light yesterday in the situation. The grand jury spent several hours in the investigation into the airs of the Georgia Loan. Sa Banking Company, adjourning at 1 o'clock to meet again this morning at 10 o'clock. No action was taken by the grand jury

For some time the officers have known of a still in the wild fastnesses of the Cohutta mountains, near Prudens tannery, twenty-eight miles from Dalton. Night before last Officer Bates left Dalton with a posse of three men—C. L. Terry, M. D. Terry and John Tyler. After a long ride they reached the steep slopes of the beautiful Cohuttas reaching high into the heavens. The officers then began their hard and seemingly impossible task of getting to the top of the mountain where they knew the still to be located. By arduous climb-ing they reached the summit of the mountain, and after looking around for awhile they found the still hidden away on a wild-looking bluff on the side of the mountain. The still was in full operation with a crowd of men at work around the fires. The revenue man and his posse surrounded the still and captured five of the moonshiners after a hard fight.

They had gone but a short distance when the friends of the moonshiners made an attempt to take the men away from the officers. They were lying in ambush in a wild undergrowth of blackjack saplings, and when the officers passed the mountaineers opened fire on them and poured a perfect volley of leaden hall around the revenues. The officers re-turned the fire and after a sharp battle the

A short distance further on they made another attempt to rescue their friends, but officers. At last, after a fearful scramble over the rough boulders of the mountain side, the officers fought their way to the turnpike road that led to the railroad. But their troubles were not yet ended. The mountaineers had determined to rescue their friends and they kept right behind, in front and all around the offi hem every step of the way. Some of the mountaineers went shead and cut down trees across the road so as to blockade it and make the officers delay and give them an opportunity to rush down and seize their friends. Some of the distillers behind rolled heavy logs down the mountain on the officers, but no one was hurt.

Officers Reach Railroad. Finally, after one of the most thrilling and exciting adventures of their lives, the officers reached the railroad and succeeded in carrying their prisoners to Dalton and putting them in jail. The mountaineers under arrest are: John Russell, Sim Smith, William Bennett and James Pullum. The men have many friends among the untains of north Geo orgia who will stick by them. The friends of the prisoners have already sworn vengeance on the head of Officer Bates. They have notified him that if he ever goes into their vicinity again he The still which was captured by Bates and his friends was a large and complete one. The official said that it was the best still they had ever captured. They found three or four thousand gailons of beer at the still.

The still was located just a little over a mile from Lawrenceville, the county site of Gwinnett county. The officers went to Lawrenceville late Wednesday afternoon, arriving in that town a short time before dark. The moonshiners had received word by some means that the officers were coming and they were at the train to meet the revenues. The officers jumped off on the opposite side of the train from that on which the crowd was standing and slipped around behind an old house to keep from being seen. Their precautions were taken too late, however, for the moonshiners started out immediately to get their still out of the way before the officers arrived. Scott and Ware lost no time in following. They set out across the fields in the direction of the still to the place. Then the race began. The moonshiners had the advantage of knowing the exact location of the still and they went as fast as their legs could carry them with the officers right behind them. For over a mile the officers ran, and they were beginning to think that they had outrun the moonshiners, when suddenly them. Quick to foresee styles, giving the question of colors and patterns intelligent and abundant thought, we manage to avoid errors of buying, but choose from an open market such fabrics that are certain to be popular successes The next step is to manufacture the cloths into Suits. Our own mammoth organization does this at the least possible expense. The completed garments then go to you through our retail outlet, and there's not a single profit bulge between maker and wearer.

Middlemen-jobbers, agents or wholesalers-do not stand between you and ourselves. We don't buy from them, and that is why we save you from 20 to 35 per cent. Our Suits at $10, $12 and $15 are the qualities that other dealers are forced to sell at $12, $15 and $18

He stated that while several persons in the garrison had severed social relations with the O'Briens, there had been no general ostracism or public disapproval as far as he knew. The colonel was asked on cross-examination whether or not he had heard or made any comments on Mrs. O'Brien and Lieutenant Bamford. on Mrs. O'Brien and Lieutenant Bamford. The question was objected to and ruled out. Captain F. G. Wales, of the medical department of the army, stated that the pocial position of the O'Briens was as good as that of any family in the post. When Captain Wales was asked concerning what his wife had said to him, the judge advocate objected and the question was ruled out. A question as to whether or not his wife had said anything to his brother-in-law was also objected to and ruled out.

SOMETHING ABOUT LT. BAMFORD The Young Lieutenant Once Cut Quite

a Swell in Omaha, Neb. Lieutenant Frank E. Bamford, who has come in for a full share of notoriety in the tral of Captain Romeyn before the Fort McPherson courtmartial, has an interesting history and quite a record in military circles in Omaha, Neb.

He served as a private, corporal and ser-geant of Company E, United States infantry, at Fort Omaha, from July 14, 1891, until the spring of 1893. In the summer of the latter year he served as a sergeant major, and was the highest non-commis-sioned officer in the Second regiment. Lieutenant Bamford was born in Wisconsin. He removed to Nebraska in 1891 bright fellow and a hard student, he rapidly worked his way through the entire list of non-commissioned officers and took the examination at Fort Leavenworth for a second lieutenant's commission. NEY IN LAND WELL INVESTED

RK THAT MR. F. F. PUTNEY HAS DONE

s Defends the Desirability and the Profits of Wiregrass Lands-Deep Plowing for Sandy Soils. Vardaway, Ga., April 28.-(Staff Correence.)-A day spent upon the magnifient plantation of Mr. F. F. Putney was ion as to this section of the state. The fact that Mr. Putney takes square with the estimate of the state agricultural department as to the value of lands, and that he himself represents the advance guard of that immigration which is about to sweep down upon us from the colder states, adds interest to the due of his opinions as an agricultural builded better than he knew when, at the close of the war, he decided to make Georgia his home. For awhile he mingled in politics, taking, of course, the unpopular side, but he soon found that there was ething better in sight than the thankss pursuit of mingling in public affairs. The story of how he has converted . the country roundabout into a garden is but mperfectly known, and the man who stops off at the modest little station bearing Mr. Plant's coat of yellow, will see something that will surprise him. Set within a grove, and almost hidden from view by the tense foliage, he will see a palatial twostory house, freshly touched up with yellow, white and green. The fences running round are immaculately white. In the everal thousand acres of well-cultivated and he will observe scattered about at convenient distances pretty little cabins, each with its inclosed garden spot, and others still beyond them as far as the eye can reach. Near by is the supply store, and cross from it is the grist mill, the cotton gin and the other buildings necessary to omplete a well-ordered planting establish-In Mr. Putney we have a type of the man who farms upon a large scale as a commercial enterprise, relying upon free labor, and rivaling in result and discipbest ordered slave farm ever carried on. His strong will shows that a capitalist, anxious to invest his money where he can command the best returns. will find more in Georgia dirt than he will ness he might look at.

"In 1865," said Mr. Putney, "I bought 500 cres of land adjoining the present home place, and raised my first cotton crop, according to the old methods in 1866, for which I received 28 cents a pound. I ran this year but five plows, which I increased to eight next year, under the impulse of my first year's success, when I lost all my money and ran $5,000 into debt. Though the crop failed me I did not let it affect my courage, but arranging my affairs I returned to the contest in 1868, getting on my feet again with some money ahead. Ever since I have met with unvarying success, until now I own 25,000 acres of the best and most productive land in the

Asked as to the method of his work, Mr.

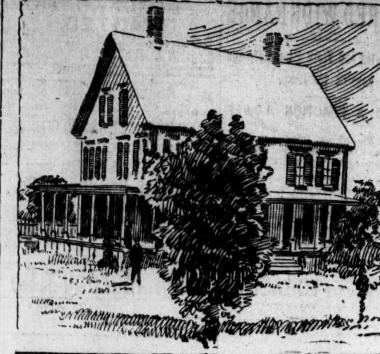

"I run two large plantations under my nal supervision, with the aid of a etent overseer. On the home plantation I hire my labor by the month, paying regular stated wages, and exacting full service in return. On the places further out I hire the workers by the month, or work them on shares, or rent direct, but in all cases I retain the right of supervision. My overseer holds the tenants up to the same discipline that he does those hired by the month. I am aware that some people will suggest the impossibility of enforcing this obedience, but I make it to their interest to be governed. I keep my lands in the highest state of cultivation, which insures the largest returns. In the center of each subdivision I place a neat, well-finished cabin, with a fenced-in patch. of ground for the raising of vegetables. These houses are superior to those these people ever lived in before, hence their vives and children are anxious to stay. I sell them their supplies at the cheapest market price, so that with an open choice of buying from me or going to Albany they could do better by coming to me. Perfect order and respect for law prevail—hence hese people are better off than they ever s envied by those outside, and I have always applications from these outsiders for any vacant houses that may be on the mar-

From this you will see that self-interest plays a large part, as my tenants are better off than the landowners near them Then they gain an advantage from my supervision, in that they do not keep up with events and I do."

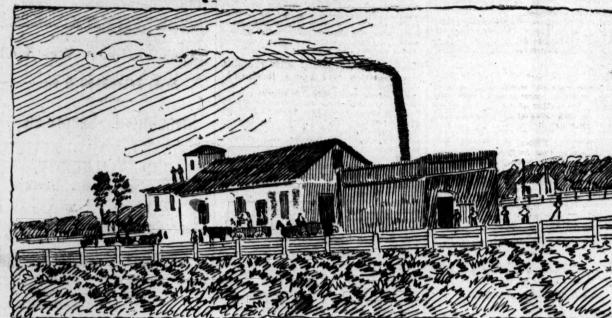

Mr. Putney was much interested in the ements made by Commissioner Nesbitt in his recent book entitled: "Georgia-Her Resources and Possibilities." Speaking of he identical section in which Mr. Putney's The uplands of the region, with their ong-leaf pine and wiregrass, have a gray. andy soil, which is from six to tweive deep, and a red or yellow sandy day subsoil; and they contain some ferformers ground. These lands are less inder cultivation than the other varieties, as they are not so productive or as desirade. They yield at first from 500 to 800 ounds of seed cotton per acre, but after eight or ten years without fertilizers, this is diminished to 350 or 500."

Again, speaking of the pine barrens or andy wiregrass region, the book says: These sandy soils, while producing a very good crop of cotton when new and esh, very soon wear out, and without the aid of fertilizers their cultivation is not profitable."

"All I can say," said Mr. Putney, "Is hat the statements, while apparently true, entirely misicading. To begin with, the ect that fertilizers are needed should not held up as a bugbear, because fertilers are necessary in all parts of the state, and it stands to reason that the progreswe farmer starts out with the knowledge at that constitutes part of his outlay. have to be used, but in what section torgia can we get the best returns for man gets double the return on this score than he can in any other part of Georgia. The subsoil in all the region mentioned is compact enough to hold the fertilizers in solution, so that it is never lost but-its virtue remains for future crops. Then deep plowing is necessary—deep enough to turn this subsoil into the sandy, and by mixing them gain consistency. Over in field," said Mr. Putney, pointing to a magnificent stretch of country, "you will see my idea illustrated. It was plowed up by a two-horse plow, as it has been for years. Once that thirty-five acres produced a bale of cotton to three acres, but I kept on plowing it deep and fertilizing it each year until it reached the capacity of one bale to the acre. In 1895 I got forty-five bales from this thirty-five acres, and in 1896, owing to causes which I now understand, it was reduced to forty bales, but even that was a surplus of five bales over the one bale to the acre. As to durability this land is unsurpassed. That field was old when I bought it in 1865, and it has been

"How are the best results to be reached in farming?" Mr. Putney was asked. "The pea, my friend, consider the pea. It is to the south what clover is to the north. Plant peas when you break your land. Plant peas when you want to rest your lands. When you have exhausted all other tasks, go forth and plant more peas-it will be food to the ground, for-age for your stock and money in your pocket. Then rotate your crops. Never plant the same ground with cotton more than two years in succession, nor corn more than once. Rotate from corn to cotton and from cotton to eats. Plan your crops ahead, look after your own business and leave pothing to others which you and leave nothing to others which you can do yourself. This rotation will give you more corn and oats and forage than you more corn and oats and hogs. Never go to town to buy anything you can raise yourself, making your cotton your surplus crop. Then you are safe in raising all the cotton you can, for it will be all clear money to you."

"As a northern man, Mr. Putney, suppose that the people of Massachusetts wanted a new home, would you advise them to come here?"

"Most assuredly," he replied. "I have traveled over every part of the union. I have visited the cholcest sections of California, looked all over the west and investigated the east, and my advice would be sall. Come to could be call. tigated the east, and my advice would be to all: Come to south Georgia, where the best and most productive lands in the world are to be found, with a climate and health unequaled anywhere.

"Within the past four years I have no-tived a wonderful region, in the old pine Perfect and respect for law preyrall—hence people are better off than they ever before, so much so that their position lied by those outside, and I have alpholeations from these outsiders for san houses that may be on the market a large part, as my tenants are bettern than the landowners near thems. The property of the landowners near thems. They gain an advantage from my swents and I do."

Putney was much interested in the ments made by Commissioner Neebitt's recent book entitled: "Georgia—Her rees and Possibilities." Speaking of miceal section in which Mr. Putney's tions are located, the book says that: a uplands of the region, with their pine and wiregrass, have a gray, soil, which is from six to tweive deep, and a red or yellow sandy subsoil; and they contain some fersure from years without fertiliteers, this misshed to São or 560."

In speaking of the pine barrens or wiversars resion, the book says:

It can say," said Mr. Putney, "is the statements, while apparently true, are not so productive or as desirabley yield at first from 500 to 800 as ease sandy soils, while producing a geod crop of cotton when new and very soon wear out, and without of fertiliteers their cultivation is roditable."

Morphine for Quinine. Is the sale of poisons by others than licensed druggists legal?

This interesting question has been raised in the city court by the filing of a damage suit by L. E. Parker, the blacksmith, who charges that he was given morphine when he asked for quinine at the grocery store of William C. Henderson.

Parker says he has been greatly damaged on account of the mistake which was made by the storekeeper. He says he took two of the morphine capsules, 'thinking them to be quinine, and that he came near dying from the result of the poison. His mouth, he declares, has been badly poisoned and even now he feels dizzy and is troubled with a numbness which al-most paralyzes his entire body.

veral days ago, so the petition states, Parker went to the grocery store of Hen-derson's, which is located at the end of Capitol avenue and Washington streets. Parker says he was feeling very badly, and asked that he be given some quinine capsules. Instead, he says Henderson gave him a number of empty capsules and also a bottle containing morphine.

Parker went to his boarding house, filled Parker went to his boarding house, filled the capsules and took two. In a short time he says he was seized with sudden illness. He was horrifled at his condition, and started out for a physician. After going a short distance, he says, he fell in a faint, and lay unconscious upon the ground until he was picked up and placed in a passing milk wagon. Parker was carried to a drug store on Georgia avenue and to a drug store on Georgia avenue and resuscitated, but not until his system received the poison. These are the allega-tions contained in his court petition, which was filed yesterday by Colonel R. J. Jordan. Damages are asked for upon the grounds

Bennett against the Atlanta Consolidated Street Railway Company for $1,000 was non-suited yesterday on motion of Attorneys Payne & Tye, who represent the Consolidated. SORRY FOR JOHN JACOB ASTOR

His Pity Now Goes Strongly Out to the Rich Men--- Used To Sympathize with the Poor.

Rev. Sam Jones entertained a large au-dience at Payne's Memorial chapel last evening. He chose, as the subject of his lecture, "Independent, Manhood," and he went for the subject and his audience without gloves. The church was well filled and had been decorated for the occasion. Mr. Jones made his introduction very short and began by saying that men should be too independent to mind whether they were poor or rich. He said that a long time ago he used to sympathize with the poor people, but since he had been traveling around he had begun to sympathize with the rich men.

ing out yonder in the woods and snoring so loud that people could hear you for half a mile than be a rich man, tossing on your pillow of down and worrying because you could not sleep? Which would you question for you, but you can decide for yourself.

Astor passing along the street and one of "'Bill, would you take the job of caring

'No, you fool, of course I wouldn't,' said the other fellow.
"'Well, Bill, that's all John Jacob gets out of it, and it's so. That's all John Jacob gets out of it, and it's so. That's all a rich man gets for taking care of his money—just feed and clothes. The poor man's got no room to kick. Just let him live in the consciousness that he is an honest man and he is the noblest work of God. The World's Little Fellows.

"But there are so many little men in the world. These little fellows who can look through a keyhole with both eyes at once and who are always waiting for something and who are always waiting for something to turn up and in the meantime they are living off of someone else. Just waiting for sump'n to turn up! My, my, how many of you there are who are like that!

"Want something free. Why, do you know that this government pays out $142,000,000 in free pension money every year and it's now been thirty years since the war? I told them when I was up.

It show been thirty years since the war!
I told them when I was up in Yankee Doodledom some time ago that there were only 600,000 of us mustered in during the whole war and that according to their pension lists we had wounded over 1,200,000 of them.
West're killing 'con out fest? My my! Wasn't we killin' 'em out fast? My, my! If the war had lasted two years longer there wouldn't have been anybody left up people at his church, but you've been awful lazy and no 'count during the past year. You are jes waitin' for somethin' to turn up an' in the meantime you are trustin' in the Lord. You come here to church and you kneel down here and you say: 'Lord gimme somethin'.'

"'Well, what do you want?'

"'I don't know, sir, just gimme somethin', anything.' And that's the way it goes. You are afraid to speak you mind. But you ain't alone. There are some others just as mean as you. It's in the world and in the church. Some poor little preachers won't speak what's in their minds because they are afraid the bishop will get after them, and the low-down politicians won't do what they know to be right because they are afraid they won't be re-elected.

"My, my, here is a poor little preacher who won't tell what he thinks, and instead of preaching Christ and Him crueined he preaches John Smith and him, dignified. And then here is the man who votes to keep open the saloons because he has not got the moral courage to vote according to his convictions."

"Dear Sir—As the time is drawing near when our faithful leader, Colonel A. E. Buck, is to leave for his post of duty as America's minister to Japan, we deem it proper that in his going he should carry with him an expressed token of our esteem and confidence. We have decided, therefore, to tender him a farewell reception at Bethel A. M. E. church, Auburn avenue, Atlanta, Ga., Monday night, May 3, 1897, at 9 o'clock. We hereby extend you an invitation to be present and to give us a five minutes' talk on that occasion. If you cannot be present please send us a letter and oblige.

The negroes in charge of the programme are arranging for a great event. They have secured good music and some of the best speakers in the state among the colored people will make short talks. MAYOR IS STILL CONFIDENT. Says the Injunctions Filed Will Not Interfere With Transfer Ordinance. Mayor Collier is not inclined to view with very much seriousness the injunctions filed against the city and the Consolidated Street Railway Company, preventing the granting

TRANS-CONTINENT CELEBRITIES Great Vaudeville Talent To Be Seen at the Grand.

Patrons of the Grand will have an atraction next week which bids fair to be the most enjoyable entertainment of the season. It is the Trans-Continental Ce-lebrities, composed of the pick of the vaudeville or specialty talent of New York

This style of entertainment seems to have supplanted all others in larger cities and all the best actors of today have gradually drifted into vaudeville, as that branch of the profession not only commands the highest salaries, but it also gives each one a chance to excel in any one line of

Atlanta will be given, all next week at the Grand, a taste of the sort of amusement which is just now all the go in New York. Zelma Rawlston, one of the cleverest mpersonators on the American stage, will be seen in her wonderful impersor and quick change work. Cokely and Husted will do eccentric dancing and comedy. Truly Shattuck, said to be a most beauwill do eccentric dancing and comedy.

Truly Shattuck, said to be a most beautiful woman, will sing the pretty ballads which have made her such a favorite in New York. Rialto, the fine dancer, is also a member of the company. Her electric dance is said to be a very movel and startling plece of work. Orrocco, the equilibrist, will be seen in a wonderful act.

There is a winding railway, grooved to fit a large, hollow, metallic ball. Into this ball Orrocco crawis. It is then closed up and she goes to the top of the spiral railway. The act is pictured in all of Barnum's bills about the city, and it is featured by them.

The acrobatic work will be in the hands of the Potters and Zenora, lately with Barnum. The Patterson Bros. will be seen on the horizontal bar. The list of artists also includes Heath and Ladd, Otillie and Delevry and Fritz.

This is an array of talent never before seen in Atlanta and the Grand should do an immense business next week.

COLUMBUS, MISS., April 29.—(Special.)—Fanny McDaniel, a negro woman living on a plantation a few miles west of this city owned by S. Selig, was struck by lightning this afternoon and received a shock from which she will probably die.

SCALPER'S TICKET; A TALE OF WOE

Young Man Is After Railroad Conductor and Scalper's Clerk.

SWEARS OUT TWO WARRANTS

The Two Cases Will Come Up Before Justice Today.

UNFORTUNATE YOUTH IS VERY WROTH

Says He Bought a Ticket in Good Faith and Was Made To Suffer Unjustly.

Judge Bloodworth will try a very uncutcome of which is to determine whether passenger on a railway train has a right ride on a ticket bought from a scalper and signed by another party, the original buyer.

The case grows out of the ejection of a young man from a Southern train at Macon several days ago, because another ame was signed on the back of his ticket. The conductor took his ticket up, therefore, which read to Jacksonville, and the youth had to return to Atlanta. His name is B. H. Bridges, and his home is in Coleman, Fla. Yesterday Bridges went before Judge Bloodworth and swore out warrants for C. E. Sears, the conductor who took up his ticket and put him off the train, and for B. Shufal, the clerk in Maynard's ticket office in this city, who sold the ticket. The former was arrested yesterday afernoon on a possessory warrant by Balliff George Ray, and the latter on a warrant charging him with cheating and swindling. Both were taken before Judge loodworth yesterday afternoon, where they gave bond for their appearance at noon today, when a hard-fought battle will no doubt ensue.

What Bridges Says. "I went into Maynard's office," said ridges, "and inquired for a ticket to Jacksonville. Shufal offered me a ticket for $23, with the information that I would get a rebate of $15 at my destination. I paid him the money and boarded the train, "Soon after leaving Atlanta the conductor looked at my ticket as if it was all right, and then passed on. Just before going into Macon, however, he came to me again, and stating my name was not sign-ed to the ticket, wanted to put me off in the woods. I protested, and he took me on to Macon, refusing to return my trans ortation.

"I boarded a train immediately and returned to Atlanta, paying my fare back. I do not know who is at fault in the business, but the scalper refuses to give me my money and the conductor my ticket and I am going to have satisfaction if it takes every cent in the world I have Maynard's clerk, when approached the subject, acknowledged he had sold Bridges the ticket and claimed it was per-fectly good. He stated the road had sold it and that it was their duty to take it up no matter whose name was signed on The Conductor's Version.

The Conductor's Version.

Conductor Sears does not deny he took up the ticket and refuses to give it back. He had asked the young man his name, and finding it did not correspond with the signature on the back, decided there was fraud somewhere and took it up according to his orders from the company.

When these tickets are sold the agent requires the purchaser to sign an iron-the ticket in any way, on penalty of it being taken up. The case today binges mainly on this point. The prosecution will attempt to show in both cases the scalper had no business selfing such a ticket. The defense from the railroad will claim the contract fustified the taking up of the ticket. The scalper will claim the ticket was perfectly valid

DULLEST FOR MONTHS

Only Three Stocks Were Dealt in Exceeding 10,000 Shares.

FIRMNESS WAS MANIFESTED

Trade Partially Suspended on Uncer tainty of Dimensions Likely To Be Assumed by Gold Export.

New York, April 29.—Opening Review: The stock market opened firm and frac-tionally higher. The dealings were center-ed in a few stocks and were entirely deid of feature except that New Jersey void of feature except that New Jersey Central showed a loss at the opening of % per cent. London quotations for Americans showed an easier tendency, which, however, did not influence the price of the international stocks in the local market. Values of the specialties receded generally during the early hour, the heaviness of these stocks being attributed to special causes. Western Union was sensitive to a revival of unfavorable gossin as tive to a revival of unfavorable gossip as to the forthcoming dividend action. Bal-timore and Ohio sagged 1 per cent on the issuing of receivers' certificates for equip-ment purposes and Chicago Gas suffered from apprehension regarding the formido-ble opposition of the Chicago aldermen to the consolidation plan.

The railways were neglected, but smallransactions show fractional concessions.

The market reacted along the line before noon, and prices rose to the best of the day. Chicago Gas recovered 1¼ and Illi-nois Steel a point, Sugar and Western Union rising a sharp fraction.

The bond market was very quiet, but prices were well held. Sales of stock to noon, 37,260 shares.

New York, April 29.—Closing Review:

Duliness of the stock market today has not been equaled for many months, bu; there was firmness manifested in prices and an under current of strength that refused to yield to some very discouraging reports in some instances. The total transns of the exchange fell below 100,000 shares and only three stocks. Chicago Gas, Sugar and Burlington, were dealt in ex-ceeding 10,000. The market for Americans in London was dull and neglected, and even the professional traders found little to interest them. There is no doubt that the partial suspension of trade was partly due to the uncertainty regarding the dimensions likely to be assumed by the gold export movement. Opinions differ, however, as to how far the natural trade conditions will carry it. The announcement today that a further shipment of gold will be made next Tuesday to the amount of $500,000 by a Boston house shows that the fall in the exchange rate to $1.871/2 for demand sterling was not low enough to pre-vent shipments, although it is ¼ per cent below the point at which exchange houses agreed upon last week as necessary to assure them enough profit to make it worth while to ship gold. The effect on the stock market was sentimental to a large extent. Notwithstanding the partial stagnation of the trading, the net result of the day's business was an average gain of a fraction, and the upward movenent of the stocks was only interrupted depression in special stocks) New sey Central was one of these, and it in sympathy. Western Union was also heavy in the early dealings, but more than recovered the loss. Baltimore and Ohio sagged 1½ on the issue of additional receivers' certificates and rallied %. The very favorable March statement of Burlington, which showed an increase in the very favorable March statement of Burlington, which showed an increase in the net earnings of $206,700, did not impart great strength to the stock, as it had been bought recently on the supposition that the increase would amount to $400,000. The closing was quiet but firm and a shade off from the top prices.

The total sales of stocks amounted to $1.315 shares including American Sugar declined 21/8, recovering only 3/8 per cent.

The others showed most marked declines

91,315 shares, including American Sugar 11,500, Burlington and Quincy 11,000, Chica-go Gas 15,800, St. Paul 5,500, Western Union 8,500, New Jersey Central 5,100. The bond market ruled firm on moderate dealings. Variations in the leading speculative issues were exceedingly narrow; and although a greater variety of the usually inactive mortgages were dealt in than for some time the changes lacked signifi-cance. The aggregate sales were $317,000. Governments displayed an improved tone and gained slightly on light purchases. The transactions were $4,400.

Financial Gossip.

Close observers of trading in Jersey Central said the decline was on room operations. General business was in small lots and without any significance. It is reported that Tennessee Coal and Iron has recently secured freight reduction in a number of instances, and particularly with regard to handling products locally. The bearish sentiment in Western Union is on reports of additional competition, bad physical condition of the property and adverse decisions in the telephone cases.

Lowsville Special: That the Tobacco
Company had anticipated the Canadian tariff bill and stocked its Canadian factories for three years was well received by friends of the stock, who said it indicated the Tobacco Company was as shrewd as the Sugar Company in preparing for tariffs, or in a word, in protecting the company's interests. They rather expected to see the stock advance quite materially, for dividends appear to again be certain.

The decline in the mraket was due directly to gold engagements. Nobody regarded the loss of $2,000,000 gold as serious, but the shipments represented a new factor in the situation, and it has been popular in the past to sell stocks when gold has gone The decline in Jersey Central brought

The strength in Sugar was a puzzle following so closely upon the death of Mr. Havemeyer, and raised a question whether insiders had been short. Generally the market was regarded as professional, narrow and for the moment controlled by lo-

The Post's Financial Cable.

New York, April 29.—Evening Post's London financial cablegram: The stock markets were good today, and the closing was quiet at the best. The chief factor was the report of a speedy intervention by the powers, to be followed by peace, but nothing was really known of it, and the report mainly arises from the marked strength of the foreign bourse. The main features here is the sharp rise in home rails and the recovery of Kaffirs, the latter being induced by the fact that the true position of the Gold Fields Company has apparently been made. The Indian sterling loan is expected soon. The Bank of Bombay rate is down to 9. The Bank of France has reduced its price for American eagles, but I am unable to give the precise quotation. Details of the gold movement for the week show the sales of £630.000 in bars chiefly for Japan, the export of £6,000 to Bombay and the receipt of £140.000 pounds from Australia, of £154,000 from Cape, and £10,000 from Portugal. Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

Atlanta, April 29.—While the market today has not shown as much strength as yesterday, there has been no pressure to sell, and prices have been pretty well maintained. Opening quotations were from 1 to 5 points over last night's closing, and under the influence of buying orders from Liverpooi and the south, prices still further improved until the range of values advanced about 6 points over last night, but a slight decline subsequently took place, and at 1 o'clock quotations were unchanged to 4 points advance on the near months and 2 to 5 points under last night on the late months. The most encouraging feature of the market is the continued strength and activity in the spot market. Supplies are rapidly decreasing and the spot demand is increasing, and it begins to look as if supplies may be reduced to such small proportions before the end of August as to cause considerable alarm. Furthermore there is undoubtedly outstanding a considerable short interest in the new crop months both here and in Liverpool, and unless conditions at the south assume a more favorable phase there is likely to develop a covering demand which will result in narrowing the differences between the new crop and the summer months. Outside business is gradually improving and the present situation appears to justify purchases on all declines. Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Cotton Letter improving and the present situation ap pears to justify purchases on all declines

Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, April 29.—The operators at home and abroad today felt that the recent advance had been too rapid and that a reaction from the extreme point this morning was in order. On this basis there have been some sales of cotton for both accounts with a view to replacing should the market decline from the apparently high water mark. After the opening this morning, however, there is no change in the situation, the demand from American spinners has been better today than for several days past, and if the mills intend to run for the balance of the season it is evident that they will be compelled to make daily calls upon a stock which is being rapidly reduced by purchases for continental account which are now being felt. Locally the temper of the trade has been to sell the new crop positions on expectations of a large acreage and the probability of a large crop next season. This has had the effect of widening the difference between the old crop and the new and has created rather a weaker feeling. It is evident, however, that the old crop will be wanted, and the large short interest existing, which has been made in buying the distant positions and selling the near, has not as yet shown any indication of becoming alarmed at the rapidly widening differences. Every bale of cotton which is now sold requires the purchase of contracts against it; and, although the market is as yet without speculation, there are indications that many people are becoming interested in the situation who have heretofore not taken an interest in the staple, as the position of cotton is becoming daily stronger, and it is evident that we shall have a smaller supply than any year since 1890, when cotton sold at 12c. The tendency of holders to part with their cotton at a few points profit is the only weakening feature in the market. We believe that the continued demand for cotton will gradually advance the price, though it may take some little time to make spinners become accustomed to paying the increased pric Hubbard Bros. & Co.'s Cotton Letter.

New York, April 29.—By Associated Press: The speculative energy in cotton seems to have subsided to some extent, at least for the present. There was some investment this morning on English and continental advices, which were quite as favorable as expected. There was also some covering early in the day, and the forenoon features of the market were fairly promising. At the best prices the market showed an advance of 6 to 10 points on yesterday's closing figures. The early improvement was stimulated by quite a number of private wires indicating late planting and partial results for the new crop. During the afternoon the market was easier under liquidation, but there was no particular pressure to sell at any time. The market closed quiet and steady at a net advance of 6 points to a net decline of 4 points.

New York, April 29.—(Special.)—The cotten market was active again today and held its own well in the face of very heavy realizing sales. The early Liverpool cables recorted that market 2-64d higher with a large business in spots. The report was regarded as wather non-committal considering the strength of our market years.

terday, and the opening here was but slightly higher, August selling on the first call at 7.49. Immediately after the opening a rush of buying orders carried prices upward, August touching 7.53, but the general opinion was that prices were high enough for the moment, and heavy liquidation ensued. August declined to 7.45. The fluctuations during the day were frequent between this figure and 7.51. May contracts, in which the interest has almost entirely been liquidated, were very strong all day, and the late months as usual were sold freely, and were comparatively weak. The close was quiet and steady with 7.48 bid for August. A too rapid advance may check the demand for spots, and for the moment we advise caution in buying except on breaks.

COVERED WIDERANGE

Wheat Boiled and Proze Alternately and Kept on the Jump.

CLOSED A FRACTION LOWER

Weather Played an Important Part. Corn and Oats Lost 1-4c, While Provisions Advanced Slightly.

Chicago, April 29.—Wheat today outdid all of its recent eccentricities. It boiled and froze alternately and kept on the jump, and few traders had nerve enough to follow the market. It closed at a decline of 4c. after roaming over a range of 2c. The weather played an important part in the gyrations of wheat. Corn lost 4c. and oats the came, while provisions advanced 21/2 (171/2c.

Wheat started in with the general feeling that a rally was about due. May wheat opened at an advance of 1/4, the first trades being made at between 71/4/6/71%c. The featopened at an advance of 1/40, the first trades being made at between 71/40/11/40. The feature of the speculative market was the gradual disappearance of the May premium, which was about a cent at the opening, but before noon was nearly all lost. The opening firmness was partly due to the bad weather, frosts being reported in Kansas and Nebraska and more rain in the southwest, while the English market was holding with more steadiness than expected, in view of the decided break on this side yesterday. of the decided break on this side yesterday But the advance started freer realizing sales, and the market once started went to 69%c in a hurry. The opening sentiment in the crowd largely deserted the market, and the business thus reduced it takes very litthe business thus reduced it takes very tle to start it running away. After the cline to 69%c the market turned. The covery was gradual at first, but becam covery was gradual at first, but became more pressing about an hour before the close, by which time July had risen to Thic. San Francisco advices reported dry weather continuing, and this had something to do with thestrength, aided by reported drought in Russia. Northwestern receipts and Minneapolis and Duluth were 390 cars, against 307 a week ago. Chicago receipts were four carloads. Atlantic exports of four were carloads. Atlantic exports of flour were equal to only 75,000 bushels. A late report from San Francisco giving predictions of rain tomorrow, another decline brought July down to 70%c, which was the closing

In oats liquidation of May on a small scale was the cause of a weak market. There was a good demand at the decline, There was a good demand at the decline, but not enough to absorb offerings, and the market was weak throughout. May opened unchanged at 181 c. It declined to 17% c and reacted to 17% s, where it closed. Provisions had a rather easy start, due to the weakness of yard prices, but the market soon became firm and remained, so. Prices have declined for three days, and today saw a natural reaction. The Cudahy's led the buying. At the close July pork was 7% c higher at $8.55; July lard about 5c higher at $417%@420, and July ribs 7% c higher at 410. Estimated receipts Friday: Wheat, 4 cars;

Paine, Murphy & Co.'s Grain Letter Atlanta, April 29.—Traders were incline to play for a rally in wheat this morning being influenced by the steadler cables, the cold, disagreeable weather west, the buil-ish Price Current summary and the fact that we have had a 7c decline without any that we have had a 7c decline without any reaction. In consequence our market opened ½c higher than yesterday's close. It soon became evident, however, that there were no buying orders coming in from the outside, and that there was little or no demand from Europe, notwithstanding that we are on an export basis, so they immediately turned sellers again, their sales breaking the price ic from the high point. On the decline buying by elevator people of May changed the feeling, and when the early sellers attempted to rebuy they found no wheat for sale. Liverpool cables opened and closes ¾d lower. Berlin and Paris both opened lower, but regained their loss and closed firm. Northwestern receipts were heavy at 290 cars, against 307 last week and 290 last year. Clearances were very light at only 75,500 wheat and flour. Crop reports were not improved. The cash demand was very slack, 40,000 being reported sold, probably for export, and New York wired four loads taken.

for export, and New York wired four loads taken.

Corn opened firm on wet weather through the west. Trade was not heavy and principally switching. Elevator people bought July but moderately. Estimated cars tomorrow 26.

Oats opened easier on selling by traders and liquidation. Trade has been light. Estimated cars tomorrow 240.

Provisions have been strong notwithstanding there were 2,000 more hogs than expected and that prices were lower. Packers were changing May to July, and were thought to be buying pork as well. Sentiment on provisions is builish and trade generally look for higher prices.

CONFERENCE HAD AT THE STATEHOUSE Crenshaw County Objects to the Doctrine and the Missionaries Are Handled Roughly.

Montgomery, Ala., April 29.-(Special.)-The members of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter Day Saints have applied to the governor of Alabama for protection against the lawlessness in Crenshaw county, recently enacted against some of their elders operating in that county. Elias S. Kimball, manager of the southern mission of the Mormon church, located at Chattanooga, Tenn., complains that two of his elders were roughly handled by disguised men, and inclosed the following letter to the governor:

"Last Saturday night, while coming home from the meeting with Uncle Sam, Elder Spencer and four ladies, Elder Spen cer and myself were attacked by an armed, blackened and masked mob. A detachment took Uncle Isham and the ladles and about ten or fifteen marched we elders shead of them into the woods and forced us to strip off our coats and stand there in the cole to listen to their vile abuse, cursing and threats. With uplifted hands and looking into the mouths of several guns we wer made to say we would leave the state. We were asked if we preferred being thrown into a near by mill pond or whipped until we could just crawl away. The flendish damnable doctrine we were preaching mus be stopped and they were going to do it We were finally let go with the threat that if we came back into these parts again our blood would be the only satisfaction." The governor yesterday morning held : conference with the elders and the sheriff of Crenshaw county and stated that the constitution plainly gave the right of freedom in religion to all persons, and that the persons implicated should be punished for their conduct and the elders protected. An investigation will be held.

Loses the Use of His Right Hand.

KIND OFFER MADE HIM.

Atlanta, Ga., April 21, 1897. This last November 1 was troubled considerably with boils or risings which seemed to concentrate on my right hand, which made it almost impossible for me to use that member at all. I called on a friend of mine, and as I had some papers to sign he asked me why I did not take Africana: I made known to him that I knew nothing of Africana; he stated that all of the druggists kept it, and that one bottle would entirely relieve me, and if it did not that he would pay for the medicine. I acted upon his suggestion, purchasing one bottle of Africana, and before two-thirds of same had been used my hand was entirely well, and since this time I have not been troubled with boils, risings or any impurities whatever. I regard Africana as one of the best blood purifiers and liver medicines, and recommend it in the highest terms. Yours truly, O. M. SPARKS, T. F. A., Seaboard Air-Line,

UNJUST TO THE MEN MANY

A Serious Complaint Filed by a Cherokee | Spring Auctions of Real Estate Are On Mining Company.

DOUBLE ROAD DUTY REQUIRED

Thrown Into Jail After Satisfying the Law's Demand-Up Before the Governor.

Two of Cherokee county's mining fac-tors, Messrs. E. E. and G. E. Pope, came down to Atlanta yesterday with a very serious complaint against some of the county officers. Their object in coming to Atlanta was to obtain an interview with the governor.

Briefly told the story is as follows Some eighteen months ago a mining com-pany from Parkersburg, Va., composed of Messrs. E. E. and G. E. Pope, mining engineers, purchased quite a large claim in the county and began immediately to develop it, spending several thousand dollars in the enterprise. Splendid results, it is said, have been derived from the invest-ment and the only difficulty yet encounter-ed by the company has come from the district surveyors and commissioners.

As it appears the mining property is located near one of the district lines of the county and this explains, in some measure, the complications which have arisen. In February of this year, according to the statement of one of the aggreeved members of the company, notice was served upon the company directing that its men be put to work on the roads in lieu of taxes. After making some inquiry it was ascertained that the property was located in Wildcat district, whereupon the demands of the law were promptly met, it is claimed, and a receipt taken from the district commissioners. In spite of this settlement, however, the commissioners of the adjoining district continued to annoy the company, it is said, and recently noti-fied the workmen to appear as defaulters before the commissioners' court of that district. As soon as the receipt was shown in court the matter was promptly dismiss-ed by the commissioners and the workmen allowed to return to the mine. A month after this, without notification of any kind, it is claimed, warrants were issued by the same commissioners for the arrest of the company's men and they were thrown into jail under a ten days' sentence. The employers of the men appeared for them and offered bond until a proper trial could be held, but the com-missioners refused. Application was made to the ordinary for a writ of habeas corpus, but without avail. The men are now lying in jail in Cherokee county and will not be released for several days yet unless some action is taken by the governor.

Messrs. E. E. and G. E. Pope are both

In Atlanta for the purpose of having an interview with Governor Atkinson. They reached the city yesterday afternoon.

Both are indignant over the matter and declare that great injustice has been done the company. Said Mr. E. E. Pope to a representative of The Constitution yester-

"The whole trouble grows out of the ig-norance of the district overseers as to where the district line runs. If this is not the explanation it must be due to the enmity of the road overseers. The mine is now shut down and as a consequence of the imprisonment of our men we are losing from $30 to $35, a day. Although full iosing from $30 to $30, a day. Although rull satisfaction has been rendered, so far as taxes are concerned, not a cent could have been legally required, as the men are not residents of the county, having been imported as blasters from North Carolina." The complaint against the district and county overseers is a grave one and will doubtless be thoroughly investigated by the

REPUBLICANS DENY IT.

Noah Johnson and F. H. Sheppard Say There Is No Deal.

Several days ago The Washington Post, The Constitution and other newspapers published a statement that congressman Fleming had submitted affidavits to the fourth assistant postmaster general going to show that Noah Johnson, a prominent colored re-Johnson, a prominent colored re-publican leader in Washington county, had received $50 as a consideration for his rsement of the application of Mr. F. H. Sheppard to be postmaster at Harrison, Ga., a town thirteen miles from Sanders-ville. Sheppard received the appointment, but Congressman Fleming filed the papers above referred to with the postoffice department, and the commission was revoked. Johnson and Sheppard arrived in Atlanta yesterday to confer with Colonel Buck, to whom they presented their case—each deyesterday to confer with Colonel Buck, to whom they presented their case—each denying most positively that there was any deal. Johnson says that he received no consideration whatever from Sheppard, and that he recommended the latter of his own free will and accord, and because he believed he would make a good postmester.

He says that he has offered a reward of $50 for proof of the charges which have been filed against him. Sheppard says that he never paid Johnson a cent, and that his skirts are absolutely clear. He says that he will push the matter vigorously, as he is not content to give up the postoffice, to which he had already been appointed, under a charge of

DELK GETS A RESPITE.

Governor Atkinson Signed What May Be Tom Delk's Last Respite.

Tom Delk has received the last respite Governor Atkinson will probably give him. He was respited yesterday until Jane 18th and unless some unforeseen emergency arises the governor will not again respite him. Judge Beck, in answer to a telegram from Governor Atkinson, has stated that the trial of Taylor Delk has been set for the first week in June and it is thought that it will not be continued under any circum-

It is very probable that Tom Delk will be hanged immediately after the trial, since the governor seems to think that he has given the counsel for Taylor Delk enough time in which to obtain a trial for him. ## LAND SALES No Profit and They Are Many.

MANY COME NEXT WEEK

Mr. Turman, Mr. Hendrix and Others Have Them on the Real Estate Programme.

As the spring days begin to advance, bringing with them the flowers that lift up their heads under the influence of the warm rays of the sun, the tender shoots of bluegrass that push through the earth as if eager to outstrip each other in beau-tifying nature and the trees that are fast becoming green with their budding foliage, the soul of the real estate man begins to wander, as if by instinct, to land sales and auctions.

From time immemorial the auction sales of land have taken place in the spring. Then all nature is smiling and happy, and the cooling breezes that temper the rays of the sun and gently sway the boughs of the trees, but give added eloquence to that mightiest of all orators—the aucdoneer.

Already the little red flags announcing that sales will take place have been hung out.

The opening sale of the season will be conducted by Mr. S. B. Turman next Monday. The property is on the corner of South Forsyth and Peters streets and be-gins at 12 o'clock in the day. As this is the opening sale, it is probable that a large crowd will be present, and of course the usual amount of fun at the expense of the auctioneer will be indulged in by those

The second sale, as has so far been an nounced, will be conducted by Messrs. J. C. Hendricks & Co. next Wednesday at 10 o'clock in the morning. This sale consists of forty-three lots, which are situated on Windsor, Cooper and Formwalt streets and Dodd avenue. Then on the same day at 4 o'clock in the afternoon Mr. H. L. Wilson will sell two ten-room residences on West Peachtree street, just north of Baker

Besides these sales there are a number of others that will no doubt take place within the ccurse of the next few weeks, but all of the preliminary arrangements have not as yet been completed and they have not been advertised. Of course the enterprising auctioneer will serve lunches at his auctions. These lunches generally consist of beer and sandwich and are always enjoyed by those who attend.

ways enjoyed by those who attend.

The real estate men of the city report that sales are on an increase and there seems to ge a good many people from other cities who are willing to invest in Atlanta dirt. If this be true it is probable that a good lot of property will change hands within the course of the next few months.

Be this as it may, there is no doubt that the season for auctions has arrived and the auctioneer will now be in his glory if buyers are only plentiful.

GOVERNOR'S PARTY RETURNS

Governor Atkinson Is Well Pleased With His Treatment at Augusta. Governor Atkinson and his staff and party returned from Augusta yesterday, where they spent Wednesday.

Wednesday was military day in Augusta and was one of the grandest occasions celebrated in that city during the present year. The military of the state was present and the city had on its holiday garb. Governor Atkinson is more than pleased with the trip and he is delighted with the manner in which he was entertained by the Augusta people. In speaking of the honorary escort which conducted him to the barber shop, the governor said it was the most truly military escort he ever saw.

He was surprised to be given an escort for such a short distance, but he accepted the honor and marched with the soldiers to the reception room of the hotel, where he met the officers of the Sixth regiment.
